PANDEMIC SURGE SOLUTIONS

When a pandemic strikes, emergency responders and organizations need to be prepared to care for victims while protecting the public from further outbreak. Isolation of infected patients is crucial and surge facilities must be in place to expand response efforts.

Reeves shelter systems offer total shelter solutions during any public health emergency. Each system, from medical surge facilities to isolation systems to incident command posts, is available in various sizes depending on the scope of an outbreak.

Stretchers, emergency bedding and fatality management products specifically geared for pandemic response are also available.

- Medical Surge Facilities - Expand bed capacities as the health crisis spreads.
- Patient Isolation Systems - A portable, all-weather solution to controlling an outbreak.
- Incident Command Posts - Transportable, fully operational systems when communication is essential.
- Casualty Collection Points - Treat patients directly in the field.
- Incident Camps - Secure housing when safety matters most.
- Mobile Inoculation Centers - Provide weather-proof areas for fast and easy inoculation, medicine and supply dispensing.
- Patient Movement Equipment - To extricate and transport victims.
- Fatality Management Centers - To handle casualties after a crisis.
